

Practising Listening and Note-taking

University students can improve their listening skills by applying listening tips and practising pre-listening, while listening and post-listening activities. This will significantly contribute to promoting academic listening skills (which is also called intensive listening). Besides, students can accelerate their listening skills through extensive listening such as listening to songs (with or without the help of lyrics), podcasts, lectures in TED talks, news, audiobooks, etc., which takes place outside the academic domain (classroom) or academic materials.

For further practice on intensive listening and assessing your listening skills, take the practice tests on the following links.

TASK: While taking the practice listening tests below, students are suggested to take notes on a piece of paper. They will upload the photos of their written notes as shown in the handout ... (e.g. mapping, listing) in their JOURNAL DOCs.

Intermediate level

1. Climate change

<https://www.esolcourses.com/content/topics/environment/climate-change/climate-change-listening-activities.html>

2. College Scholarships

<https://www.esl-lab.com/academic-english/college-scholarships/>

3. I Love Trees

<https://www.esl-lab.com/academic-english/planting-trees/>

4. Blood Donations

<https://www.esl-lab.com/academic-english/blood-donations/>

Advanced Level

5. Homelessness

<https://www.esl-lab.com/academic-english/homelessness/>

6. Language Learning

<https://www.esl-lab.com/academic-english/language-learning/>

7. Raising Successful Children

<https://www.esl-lab.com/academic-english/raising-children/>